WHAT A DIFFERENCE SEVENTY-FIVE YEARS MAKES
From our humble beginnings in 1943 to present, Boysville has cared for thousands of children who needed a safe place to call home. Today, Boysville is a nationally accredited children's home caring for over 300 children each year through on and off campus programs.

In 2018, we celebrated our 75th anniversary of caring for children and we are proud to say that today, Boysville continues to evolve, evaluate and implement national best practices including trauma-informed care along with strengths and solution-focused models of care.

While we maintain our focus on helping children heal from the effects of abuse and neglect, we are expanding to include a community outreach program for parent education. Our Supporting Parents and Reaching Kids, (SPARK) program, worked with 97 individuals through classes and in-home family-based services during its inaugural year. These free classes, sponsored by the Mays Family Foundation, taught parents about a child’s brain development, behaviors and how to effectively manage their family units by providing effective parenting tools. Participants in the class included grandparents, foster-care parents, caretakers and several parents who were actively working to regain custody of their children. The majority of the parents decreased their propensity of engaging in abusive or neglectful behaviors.

The work on our campus infrastructure continues as we completed a campus wide water main replacement. With help from CPS Energy, we have converted our interior and exterior lighting to more efficient LED lighting and now are working to replace our outdated roofs.

Finally, there is change coming to San Antonio in the way the state places children in care. We continue to stand on the front line, prepared to meet the ever-changing needs of children in care.

We are so grateful for the support we have received for 75 years. Our community gives our children the opportunity to grow and become responsible adults. With your help, we will continue to be here for a future generation of children who may need a safe, place to call home.

Thank you for your continued support.

Sincerely,

From the terrible twos to the turbulent teen years, raising children seems to be learn as you go process. Based on the Nurturing Parenting Program, our free eight-week parenting course, teaches behavioral management, positive parenting and child development of the brain.

"Parenting is not a one-size fits all program," says Vicky Rine, parent educator for Boysville. Vicky has over 20 years of parent teaching experience. Understanding the biology of a developing brain is key to successful parenting.

“There is a science behind a child’s behavior,” said Vicky. “It is all about brain development.”

Vicky explains that children grow and mature at different rates therefore we should parent each child as an individual. Each child, like adults, responds differently to feedback.

Parents taking the class are eligible for one on one coaching after the eight-weeks is over. Vicky works with each parent to create attainable goals. The class is getting favorable reviews.

"I’ve taken about five different parenting classes," said Jessica, mother to a toddler. “This class seems to touch all of the real life issues. It was a more personal approach to parenting."

Monique, a mother of six children, learned how to deal with each of her children on an individual basis. “There is no one way to parent. What works for one, might not work for another. The class teaches why children can be difficult or strong-willed.”

For more information on the classes, please contact Vicky Rine at 210-488-7978 or email her at vrine@Boysvilletexas.org.

* This class is TDFPS approved for care givers required to take a parenting class.

At Boysville, we work very diligently to make Christmas extra special for each child in our programs. For our children in our Emergency Shelter, it really was a Christmas miracle.

After our annual Christmas pageant, our children came back to the shelter for a party hosted by The Bank of San Antonio. This dedicated group has sponsored Christmas in our shelter for many years. Each gift is hand picked and personalized for the child. After seeing the presents under the tree, several children in a sibling group burst into tears. Thinking the children were upset, our staff quickly tried to comfort them. It turns out their tears were tears of joy and happiness. This was the first time they had gifts under the tree.

“My mom always told us she canceled Christmas because we were bad,” said one young man. “It turns out she spent on her money on drugs.”
Born in California, Dominic came to Texas at a young age. He really likes living in Texas. “It’s a slower paced life style,” he said. “I remember California as being fast-paced. But I like it better here.”

At 18 years old, he was given three options: he could sign himself out of care; enroll in an program in Austin, Texas; or enroll in Boysville’s Supervised Independent Living Program (SIL). He chose Boysville. “I was at Boysville in the Emergency Shelter in 2014 or 15,” he said. “I wanted to come back.”

Dominic is attending his final year of high school and now has his eyes on college. He hopes to go to University of Texas in San Antonio. “Being at Boysville means I don’t have to live placement to placement,” said Dominic. He is able to focus solely on graduation and he is able to enjoy all the “perks” of his Senior year, he said while smiling broadly. “SIL has turned my life around.”

He has settled into his cottage, made friends with the other young adults and with the staff. His favorite staff is Miss Crystal (Walker), who is a resident advisor and Boysville alumni. “I can relate to her because she has been in care.”

Dominic is a senior at Judson High School and set to graduate in May. In the fall, he played on the Judson football team as a free safety, but did most of his playing time on special teams. Now he is currently on the track team. He likes to stay busy when not in school. He exercises, hangs out with his cottage “brothers” and is a member of the Boysville basketball team. He likes that he is a leader on the team to the younger players. “It makes me feel like I am more than I think I am,” the shy young man said. “It feel like I am actually doing something.”

Dominic has a big heart. He hopes to find a career in medicine or social work. He would like to give back to the community. “God put me through all this stuff for a reason,” he said. “Maybe it was so I could help others.”
